Story. You may not know Jack Black's name but you know his face because you've seen him in movies, on TV, and on the Internet. He's the guy who pulls his ever-present earbud out of his ear at a dinner party and turns to his date to say, "My bad." before going back to what he was listening to as if nothing had happened. His acting career has done its job in convincing us that he's a real human being, and we can't help but like him.
