One of the major parts of this webapp involves the use of AJAX to POST (and GET) data to a PHP script, which processes the information. The problem is, when i try to POST and GET the data to PHP, the PHP script does not recognize the "GET" request as a function, but recognizes the POST request as one of the files associated with it, which results in an error. Here's the piece of code i'm using to send the data: function getTextarea() { var textArea = $("#textarea").val(); $.post("webapp.php", { action: "getTextarea", text: textArea }, function(data) { $("#result").html(data); }); } Im not sure whether im doing it right or not, since im very new to AJAX. Please advise. A: The error is your action property. It should be set to "post", not "get". // // Generated by class-dump 3.5 (64 bit) (Debug version compiled Oct 15 2018 10:31:50). //

Author: Operating System: Windows 7, Windows 8, Windows Vista, Windows XP Date: 2013-12-19 Last Update: 2014-08-23 Downloads: 2,558 License: Freeware Price: Free File Size: 1.8 MB Views: 76,706 Easy to use I've been using this program for some time now and it has never failed to return the registry in its pristine state, even when I knew there was something wrong with it. The only issue I ever had was with a shared DLL. It correctly fixed that. The program displays all entries found. You can choose what to fix, remove, or just repair those entries. The program leaves everything else alone. This is an excellent program. You might also like Free Zippyshare Downloader. I've used both of them and they work great. They both work equally as well as the other.BAYTOWN, TX (KTRK) -- A Baytown woman who was found dead in a lake on Saturday night has been identified as the mother of a 10-month-old baby. The Harris County Institute of Forensic Sciences released the identity of the victim Sunday, April 7, just one day after police said the woman's husband found her unresponsive and pulled her out of the water. He called the rescue squad and 911. The Harris County Sheriff's Office says the woman's husband came home Saturday night, about 7:15 p.m., to find his wife unresponsive. He tried to wake her, but she was unresponsive, so he used CPR until the rescue squad arrived and took over. The woman, identified as Miriam Carolina Kalseth-Reyes, 34, was pronounced dead at the scene. Kalseth-Reyes was reportedly a daycare worker at The Little Tree Early Childhood Center in Baytown. CPR was administered until the rescue squad arrived. Resuscitation was unsuccessful. The baby girl was taken into custody. The baby was being cared for at a temporary shelter, but was released to her family Sunday morning. Detectives are investigating the incident as a "death investigation," and detectives are still trying to establish the cause of death. The Baytown Police Department, which is leading the investigation, has released
